Darin Eidson Obituary

Born November 10, 1969 in Jackson County, Missouri, Darin was the second of three sons born to James V. Eidson and Martha L. Webster. Raised in Missouri, Darin was a graduate of Raytown High School, and an Eagle Scout with Raytown Troop 269, as well as an active member of the H Roe Bartle Scout Reservation Tribe of Mic-O-Say. Following high school, he attended Missouri State University in Springfield Missouri where he played rugby and would attain his bachelor's degree in communications, with minors in Film and Psychology. As a career, Darin worked mostly for television stations in digital sales. His career took him to both Springfield and Columbia, Missouri, later to Madison, Wisconsin and eventually to Tulsa Oklahoma. When not at work, Darin enjoyed the outdoors where he would fish and hunt and sometimes just go shoot guns because it's what he liked so much. He was also an avid sports fan and followed the Kansas City Chiefs, as well as, the Kansas City Royals.....Darin "bled" Chief's Red and Royal Blue!More than anything, Darin loved his daughters: Madelynn and McKenna. When Madelynn was young, he would carry her in a backpack and take her fishing and once McKenna came along, he affectionately referred to her as his "Lil Chief". Both girls were the center of Darin's universe.The Catholic Church was very important to Darin and he was a member of the Knights of Columbus. He volunteered countless hours for the organization, helping with a multitude of projects - especially those that involved the girls' school. Darin passed away in Tulsa on October 27, 2018. He was 48.He is survived by: his wife, Alisha; daughters: Madelynn and McKenna; his mother, Martha Webster; his younger brother Kean; his older brother David, his nieces and nephew, Chandra LeCon Eidson, Ambria Nicole Eidson, Calisse Ann Eidson and Caden Lee Eidson; a special cousin, Sean Maschler and wife, Priscilla; his mother and father-in-laws: Marlon and Jackie Mowdy and James and Kathy Weiss.
