I remember Murrel with great fondness. He was four years older than I. I saw and talked to him often from the age of about 6 until the end of my public school days. He was an older friend to all of us cousins, taking us to the movies and other outings. He was always friendly, much like his mother. In his personal relations and administrative work for the city of Tulsa he was a friendly and helpful person to all. I would call him a blessed person and a blessing to all. Cousin Jim Williams
